

Human Energy®

We go to extraordinary lengths
to protect the integrity of the places where we operate.
Like Australia's Barrow Island.
It's home to hundreds of native species of wildlife, including wallabies, ospreys and perenties.
We've been producing energy there for more than 40 years and it remains one of Australia's finest Class A Nature Reserves.
Proving that with the right management,
industry and the environment can co-exist.
