Harvard Law School Brazilian Studies Association presents:

“International Trade in a Changing Landscape” with keynote speaker Ricardo Ramirez, former Chairman of the Appellate Body of the WTO

Thursday, November 8, 2018 | 1:30 – 5:30pm

IASP Auditorium - Av. Paulista, 1294 – 19th floor, Sao Paulo-SP

About the Event:

The discussion will explore the international trade scenario (in times of Trump and Bolsonaro) and address global challenges, such as the current crisis in the WTO and its impact for the global trading system, including a keynote speech from Ricardo Ramirez, former Chairman of the Appellate Body of the WTO. Experts, practitioners, and government officials will join panels to analyze (i) the U.S. trade policy under the Trump administration and (ii) the challenges for Brazil's new trade policy, in light of the current global trade scenario and the WTO under threat.
